NATURAL CONDITION NALLY LAD TO THE RESERVE BOARD

HINES DENIES CHARGE RAILS BROKEN DOWN

Former Director General of Railroads Tells Senate Interstate Commerce Committee That Equipment Was Improved and That the Roads Were in Better Condition Than When Taken From Companies—Last Year Best in Entire History.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Walker Hines, former director general of railroads, unequivocally denied today that the nation's railroads were "broken down" when the government turned them back to private ownership in 1919.

Hines declared before the senate interstate commerce committee that, on the contrary, government control had resulted in "improved equipment," better morale and more all-round efficiency.

"There were in much better shape when returned than when the government took them over," Hines said. "During federal control the roads were operated by the same practical railroad men who operated them before and since federal control." Hines said. "The government can take great pride in what was accomplished on the roads during federal control."

Hines declared that railroad efficiency, built up by federal control, was greater last year than ever in history. "The true basis of comparison on efficiency is the number of man-hours paid for," he said. "The traffic units per man-hour increased from 82 in 1915 to 96 to 1917 and 1918, and to 100 in 1919, while under federal control. This was a showing of more traffic units per man than ever before. With this start, the result was even better in 1920 when 101 traffic units were realized. I believe that 1921 will show even better results."

Hines also charged that the government "was compelled" to take over the railroads because of their poor condition in 1918.

"The mechanical departments of the roads were unable to cope with the situation," he continued. "The equipment of the roads was in such a poor condition that the government was compelled to take control."

He added that the repair tracks and terminals were blocked and congested with broken down cars while shops and round houses were jammed with locomotives needing repairs.

"All my advice, on the other hand, stated that at the end of federal control locomotives were in distinctly better condition than at the beginning," said the former director. "The condition of freight cars would compare favorably with the condition at the beginning of our control."

He said an "abnormal condition" had kept both locomotives and cars in use prior to federal control when they were greatly in need of repairs.

"Within four months after the return to private control and without any marked improvement in equipment, the railroads began to handle the greatest volume of business in their history," Hines said.

Such a heavy performance would have been impossible if the equipment had been in the hopeless condition implied by the criticisms of certain railroad executives.

"The notion that the railroads were broken down at the end of federal control is wholly contrary to the facts. It was proven false by the phenomenal traffic successfully handled in 1920."

PRINCE OF WALES NOT WORRIED OVER UNREST IN INDIA

LONDON, Jan. 24.—That the Prince of Wales is not worried over political unrest in India, was indicated by the following message received from him today in response to a message of thanks and congratulation from Premier Lloyd George and his cabinet:

"I met with such cordiality and good will in India during my travels that I am encouraged to hope that in the future of India, the empire will fully uphold the fine traditions of the past."

The message had congratulated the prince upon the success of his visit.

It is felt that the prince's message augurs well for the negotiations for the Indian mission.

TRIAL OF "PEACH TREE BANDIT" WAS POSTPONED TODAY

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 24.—Because one of his attorneys has a badly infected foot, the trial of Frank Dupre, alleged "peach tree bandit," was postponed today in superior court. Dupre is to be tried on an indictment charging him with the murder of Irbey C. Walker, who was shot down when he attempted to intercept the man who had stolen a valuable diamond from a Peachtree street jewelry store and was fleeing.

An enormous crowd gathered at the courthouse during the morning, intent on catching a glimpse of the youth who has, according to police, confessed to the most sensational robbery in Atlanta in years.

Dupre, however, did not enter the court room. He was kept in a small witness room until announcement of the postponement was made and then was returned to his cell.

Betty Andrews, the woman in the case, did not appear in the court room. She is being held as a material witness.

FEDERAL AGENCY FOR SALE FARM PRODUCTS PROPOSED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Establishment of a nationwide federal agency for the distribution and sale of farm products was proposed in a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator McCumber (R., N. D.).

McCumber urged its passage as a means of "saving the agricultural interests from utter ruin."

The bill is a substitute for the Cooper cooperative farm marketing measure, supported by the senatorial farm bloc.

"Girls are no longer shy," complains a woman. "They're also no mother."

DEADLOCK IN TREATY IS BROKEN

JAPAN YIELDS TO AMERICA'S INSISTENCE REGARDING FORTIFICATIONS.

PACIFIC IS DIVIDED IN FORTIFICATION AREAS BY NEW PLAN

Hughes Goes Into the Entire Siberian Question From His Viewpoint.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The deadlock over the five power naval treaty, caused by Japan's insistence upon fortifying the Bonin Islands, has virtually been broken, it was announced today by the American delegation.

Japan has yielded to the American position, and has agreed that the islands shall be included in the status quo arrangements covering Pacific fortifications.

It is understood that the agreement reached embraces not only the Bonin group of islands, but divides the Pacific generally into fortification areas, over which proposition there was considerable difference of opinion between the British, Americans and Japanese.

There was marked jubilation in American quarters over the adjustment of the difficulties.

In today's meeting of the Far East committee, Secretary of State Hughes answered the Japanese Siberian statement made yesterday, in which Japan said she would not withdraw her troops from Siberia until "a stable government appears."

Without either accepting or rejecting the Japanese explanation of why Japanese troops remain in Siberia, the American secretary of state went fully into the whole Siberian problem from the American viewpoint.

Elsewhere, the conference marked time today. The Japanese and Chinese delegates have cleared up all the lateral issues in Shantung and now are flatly up against the deadlocked issue of the railroad.

The five-power naval treaty also continued in deadlock over the fortifications section.

American delegates have put their foot down on the proposal emanating from European delegations that all of the treaties of the conference—naval, Far East, Yapan, communications, Pacific, etc.—be lumped together in a single volume. Senator Lodge has advised his colleagues that such a procedure would be displeasing to the senate.

HUNDRED FAMILIES IN TENN. FORCED TO MOVE FROM FLOODS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 24.—The Tennessee river reached a crest here of 32.9 feet at 7:00 o'clock this morning and by 10 o'clock had commenced to recede. It is predicted by the local weather bureau that it would be within its flood stage some time tomorrow morning.

Over a hundred families living in the lowlands have been forced to move but in most cases they are merely raising their furniture out of reach of the water rather than going to the expense of moving.

There was a light rain here last night but the weather being of a mild temperature there was no particular amount of suffering noticed among the refugees.

WASHINGTON GARAGE MAN HELD ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE TODAY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 24.—Dorothy Bates, 16, of Washington, D. C., who mysteriously disappeared from her home some time ago, was found here today, according to Chattanooga police, following the arrest of Roy F. Arnold, an auto accessory dealer of Washington. Arnold is held on a white slavery charge.

The girl visited Arnold in jail here, police said, and faintly when she was Arnold behind the bars. Later, it was said, she admitted her identity. The couple, who said, visited Atlanta and Richmond before coming to Chattanooga.

TEMPORARY POPE

Cardinal Merry Del Val, cardinal chamberlain, becomes temporary pope until a permanent pope is elected.

SENATE REFUSES TO FAVOR RESOLUTION REGARDING SHANTUNG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The senate today rejected by a viva voce vote the resolution of Senator Walsh (D), of Montana, calling upon the president of the United States to lay before the senate all the facts in the Shantung negotiations now before the armament conference.

Senator Curtis (R), of Kansas, requested that action be taken on the resolution without debate, stating that this was the desire of Senator Lodge (R), of Massachusetts, member of the American delegation.

The resolution was killed by a viva voce vote after Senator Jones (R), of Washington, stated to the senate he thought the passage of the resolution was unwise.

SUBSIDY PLANS FOR AMERICAN SHIPPING FORMED BY LASKER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The subsidy plan of the United States Shipping board, designed to enable American ship operators to compete equal with the British, was presented to President Harding today by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the board, and a committee representing the shipping interests which drew up the plan.

The recommendations of the shipping board are understood to propose direct cash payments derived from import taxes, the payments to be administered by the shipping board under the supervision of the secretary of the treasury and for an indirect subsidy in the form of mail subsidies and other government contracts.

The suggestion was also made today by Chairman Lasker that the subsidy plan finally adopted by congress following recommendations made by the administration might include provisions for the enrolling of merchant seamen as members of the naval reserve and for the carrying of a large percentage of immigrants on American ships.

LEWIS STRANGLES OPPONENT TILL HE IS UNCONSCIOUS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 24.—"Strangler" Lewis, the ex-convict champion, met and defeated Tom Driskill, the North Carolina prizefighter, in a wrestling match here last night in one hour and 17 minutes.

After Lewis had applied what he called his "legally confined" technique, he was seen to be unconscious.

FIRST OF NINE DAYS CEREMONY FOR POPE TODAY

Burial Will Not Take Place Until Tomorrow—Commence Preparations for Sealing Up Room in Which Papal Election Will Be Held Beginning Feb. 2—Little Change in Election Prospects—Gambling Houses Placing Big Bets on Result.

ROME, Jan. 24.—The traditional nine days funeral ceremonies for the late Pope Benedict XV began at 9:30 clock this morning, when mass was celebrated by the Senior Canon of St. Peter's Cathedral. A similar ceremony will be conducted each morning for the succeeding eight days. The burial of the pontiff will not take place until tomorrow and the body will remain in state upon the catafalque in the basilica of St. Peter until noon Wednesday. As the requiem mass was celebrated this morning, the Julian choir sang softly in the chapel.

The senior canon gave absolution at the papal bier.

Mechanical preparations for the conclave were begun today, when masons commenced erecting walls to seal up completely the room in which the papal election will be conducted. The telephone wires will have been removed by the time the conclave opens.

The non-Italian vote in the conclave has been reduced from 30 to 29 by the death of Cardinal Almaraz Y. Santos archbishop of Toledo. The Italian membership of the sacred college is 31.

There have been increasing signs of reconciliation between the vatican and the Italian government. Upon orders from the ministry of Marine all the Italian warships have lowered their flags to half mast.

There is no change in the predictions as to Benedict XV's successor, except that Cardinal Priest Giuseppe Preissio archbishop of Naples, is now mentioned as a dark horse. Friends of Cardinal Louis Nazario Bagni, archbishop of Quebec, are urging his election if the sacred college decides upon the election of a non-Italian. There seems little likelihood, however, that a non-Italian will be chosen.

Disregarding the irrelevance of their action the gambling houses in the fashionable watering places on the Italian and French Riviera are "making book" upon the outcome of the conclave next month. The men and women betters are allowed to wager on any of the 61 cardinals and the "house" will take the opposition side.

According to a news agency, the government has issued official denial of a report printed in the Popolo Romano that Premier Bonomi has sent a confidential letter to the vatican protesting suggestions pressure upon the cardinals in their election to pope in the letter of a propaganda agent.

It was announced that the pope's body would be in state from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. this afternoon.

It is learned, however, that Cardinal Merry Del Val, bishop of Caserta, has written a letter to the vatican protesting against the suggestion of pressure upon the cardinals in their election to pope in the letter of a propaganda agent.

AMERICAN COOLNESS TO PROPOSED MEETING IS INFLUENCING ACT.

U. S. OBJECTING TO PRESENCE OF SOVIET RUSSIA AT MEETING

Believed Conference Called Too Early to Get Proper Prospects at Present.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—President Harding and his advisers have informally conveyed to European statesmen in Washington that the United States does not look with favor at this time on the Genoa economic conference scheduled for March 8, invitations for which have already been issued by the Italian government. This fact lead to predictions in European quarters today that the conference will be called off, or postponed until some later date.

A member of the Italian delegation said today that the conference on March 8 appeared "impracticable" at this time and predicted a postponement.

While the reasons for the sudden "impracticability" of the meeting were not made clear, it is understood that American coolness toward the parley is at the root of the matter.

President Harding has discussed the Italian invitation with his cabinet on several occasions, and more recently with influential Republican senators. The conferences are said to have developed a marked antagonism to the project, as now proposed, and this antagonism has been communicated to the European statesmen now in Washington who have, in turn, communicated it to their home governments.

The Italian delegation today said the Genoa conference was treading too closely on the heels of the Washington conference for comfort. This is one of the principal objections raised by administration officials—that the Genoa meeting March 8 will be held before it is possible to view results of the Washington conference clearly.

Discussion between President Harding and his advisers also has developed a unanimity of belief that the administration should see the conference treaties ratified by the United States Senate before committing the nation to another international conference.

It was pointed out to the President by some Republican senators that it might become embarrassing for the American delegates at Genoa to undertake commitments in the name of the United States, while the attitude of the senate was still in doubt on the results of the last conference.

The Genoa and personnel for the Genoa meeting also have not been entirely to America's liking. There is a marked suspicion on the part of some high officials of the administration toward dealing with Soviet Russia as an equal around a common conference table. This is held to be particularly true because of Secretary Hughes and Secretary Hoover who believe the United States should continue its policy of non-interference and non-alignment with the government of Leningrad and Trotsky.

The Genoa project was called "too early" according to some officials, who believe Europe should undertake to put her own house in order through balancing budgets and diminishing military establishments before inviting the United States to participate.

It would also be surprising if "Washington" if the Italian government itself invited the invitations to the Genoa meeting. An explanation has been given in Washington that it is understood and to recall the invitation would present the embarrassment of an American refusal to participate in the Genoa conference.

The reported refusal of the United States to participate in the Genoa conference is a serious blow to the Italian government, which has been counting on the participation of the United States to give the conference a world-wide character.

Beach Auto Races Announced for Sunday Are Changed Now to Monday; Support Promised

The following resolution, adopted by the directors of the Florida Auto Racing Association Monday afternoon at a special meeting held in the office of R. L. Seligman, attorney:

"Inasmuch as the residents and the general public of the Triple Cities have expressed their sentiments regarding Sunday racing on Daytona Beach and they are divided to such an extent that there are as many opposed to it as in favor of it, and

"Whereas it was the intention of the directors of the association to at all times conform strictly to the wishes of the residents and tourists in the conduct of races and the suggestion of Sunday racing was made for the purpose of ascertaining the desires of the people of the Triple Cities and such suggestion did not indicate the personal wish of any director; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we do not hold any Sunday races and the date of January 29 race be changed and held on Monday, January 30, 1922, at 2 p. m. sharp."

Another official act of the directors was to extend a vote of thanks to the newspapers, ministers and others who assisted in bringing about the general vote in deciding public opinion regarding Sunday racing. President Bailey appointed a committee composed of J. R. Miller, H. P. Thompson and Dr. F. B. Grosbeck, to call personally upon ministers, newspaper officials, and others, and present the thanks of the racing association for their kind co-operation.

As previously reported in this paper, the decisions reached at the last two meetings of the association were based upon the necessity of raising sufficient funds to pay outstanding indebtedness and to offer large enough cash prizes to attract worth-while speed cars. From the gate receipts of the January 2 and 11 races it was made evident that some other day than Saturday would have to be selected, not only to increase the revenue from the races, but also to not interfere with business in the local stores.

The directors of the racing association feel assured that the church people and others who have so strongly opposed Sunday racing on Daytona Beach will work as energetically for the success of the event which has been changed to Monday, January 30. The directors and officers of the Florida Auto Racing Association are business and professional men who give of their time and efforts toward making the association a great success. The acting secretary and the director of events are the only ones who receive any compensation for services rendered.

It is a recognized fact that it was automobile racing which established the beach, and it is automobile racing which can still give Daytona Beach the greatest world-wide publicity. Three weekly news services photographed the races of January 2 and 14, and the films are being shown all over the country. Every racing event held on the beach will be filmed and shown to millions of movie lovers in all the cities, towns, and hamlets of the United States. Outside of the entertainment which good, clean automobile races afford the residents and tourists of the Triple Cities and vicinity, it is the opportunity for the best kind of publicity for this community.

B. H. Endicott returned from his tour of the state in signing up speed cars for the next races in time to attend the directors' meeting Monday, and assured them that the date could be changed to the following day without effecting arrangements already made with racing drivers.

The regular weekly meeting of the Florida Racing Association will be held Wednesday evening.

"Cobe's" Minstrel Show Makes Hit of the Season Monday

A packed house greeted the many performers of the Cobe's Minstrel troupe when the curtain went up at the Auditorium on Monday evening a few minutes after 8 o'clock. The stage had been beautifully set for the ensemble representing the famous Golden Gate of the west. Against this gorgeous background were grouped the white and black face artists ready to give an evening of mirth and music.

Alma Seale was the interlocutor, handling his part in great style. Jokes, songs, dances and other specialties followed in rapid succession keeping the audience laughing most of the time. All jokes were of a very clean nature leaving no cause for comment, most of them new and a few of the real good old times jokes being so dressed up that they were hardly recognized until the very last word had been spoken. The singing specialties were unusually good, the choruses in the nature of a double quartette filling the big auditorium with splendid melody. "Lassie of Mine," sung by Lawrence Board gave proof that Mr. Board has a mighty sweet tenor voice and that his Scotch dialect is very good. Harlan Condon, who describes to be called the John McCormack of Minstrelsy sang a very touching Irish tune called "John" and was ordered to sing the chorus several times. The baritone song of the Tramp—"A Son of the Desert"—was splendid and many much as pleased for the singer, Allen Seale.

Mr. Seale has an unusually strong voice of extra good quality and since his numbers with much feeling. Sam Johnson did an old time soft shoe dance that pleased everyone and proved that the old time dancing is much more graceful and really an art in comparison to the stomp of the present day dancing.

Frank C. Gilmore with a wonderful bass voice rendered "Over the Hills and Far Away" and the wails of the Auditorium around the notes with voices of emotion. Sam Johnson sang a duet with the evening with his "I'm a Wild Cat" Mate, in which he did a very little and was applauded. He was recalled many times during the show could go on.

Charlie Gano, what is the use of trying to tell you that he is the best singer in the world and it is all right other performers were taken off the stage, the show would have been well worth waiting. Gano sang "Without a Doubt, There is hold his audience for hours at a time and his slow drawing way of talking, his funny expressions and natural way of doing things is enough to keep the crowd howling with mirth all night long. His song of the week was "Oh Brother What a Feeling" was simply rich—you could not improve on it.

Karl Denton, one of the real old time minstrels who has been on the boards for many years still has that way of pleasing his audience as in years gone by. Denton is by no means a spring chicken so as to speak but he certainly looks the part when dressed up on the stage. His voice still holds true to being a soprano for it is higher than a tenor but just a trifle lower than the female soprano.

The plantation scene of the last act was well set and had the real southern atmosphere attached to it which, while an every day affair to southerners, nevertheless shows a northerner exactly how these negro homes and seemed to look back along the turpentine roads. In this sketch Jack Peterson gave a fine imitation of an old black down nigger doing led up with the rheumatics but whose joints seem to move when the strains of music permeate the air. His shuffling, dancing were good and his manner of playing the fiddle was another performer that pleased the house with his serpentine dancing. The musical number, "Mama, Groceries, Cheap, Cheap, of Scotland" was selected to the limit. These performers certainly could play the various instruments, the cornet duo being particularly pleasing.

All told this show this year was better than ever and lived up to the advance notices sent out by the company. It was a good clean show and worth the money and when the troupe comes back here later on another crowded house will greet them. J. A. Coker must be given credit for getting together such an organization of talented artists purely for the purpose of entertaining.

Built a City Block for "If I Were King"

One of the largest outdoor sets ever erected for a photodrama production was built at the William Fox Theatre for the great street scene in the William Fox special production, "If I Were King," from the great stage success and novel by Justin Huntly McCarthy in which William Farnham will be seen in the role of Francis Villon at the Auditorium tonight.

More than a city block was utilized, and on one end was erected a model of the palace of Louis XI, King of France, in whose period the action of this picturesque and stirring drama takes place. The palace itself is more than 15 feet in height, with an imposing balcony facing the street. Regular sidewalks were built and more than 150 horses lined both sides of the street.

Grass, and trees were laid out by a landscape painter, while a small army of artisans and sculptors carved various pieces of statuary and enameled designs.

Director J. Gordon Edwards used more than one thousand men and women in this street for the photoplay return of Francis Villon, who saved the day for France by defeating the Duke of Burgundy. Assembly number.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fowler and their daughter, Mrs. H. H. Fowler, left for a short trip to Miami Monday afternoon. Mrs. Fowler is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. H. H. Fowler, and her sister, Mrs. H. H. Fowler, and her brother, Mr. H. H. Fowler, and her father, Mr. H. H. Fowler.

Mrs. J. T. Thompson of 277 Halifax avenue, Seabreeze, is in receipt of word from her daughter, Mrs. H. T. Stabler, that her trip to Miami will have to be postponed some but that she expects to return about the 1st and 2nd of February.

Bell Ringers to Play Next Friday at the Auditorium

Four clever young American lads have exploded a theory or two concerning the much discussed music of the Swiss Hand Bell artists. It has long been thought that the Swiss musicians were the masters of hand bell music.

The Bell Ringing Male Quartette not only disproved this old belief, but they add to the musical numbers of their program a modern up to the minute entertainment of vocal and instrumental work which is unsurpassed in modern lyrics.

In the bell ringing best these young Americans are at their best and they handle the seventy odd bells with a dexterity which is amazing, and from their efforts the audience is able to enjoy the wonderful chiming and tonal combinations of the Swiss hand bells. Everywhere on their present tour the Bell Ringing Male Quartette has met with popular favor. The bell ringing never fails as a novel attraction, and it sounds out a diversified entertainment which people like. There is lots of snap and "punch" in their program. It is a real quartette entertainment with lots of fun, lots of melody and lots of instrumental and novelty features, including the bell ringing, and then, too, is added clever sketch and impersonation work. The Bell Ringers Quartette is a thoroughly an organization of worth and offers something which is new in the field of modern entertainment.

It is an Assembly Number, Friday, January 27, at 8 p. m. at the Auditorium.

William McToland, who for some time has been employed by the Halifax Furniture company, has accepted a position as bookkeeper for the Marrow Parkhurst Motor company and reported for duty Monday morning.

In E. W. Stevens of Altona, Pa., is expected this afternoon and will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Rutter on Main street. Dr. Stevens represents the Board of Home Missions and church extensions of the M. E. church and has been a close friend to Dr. Rutter from childhood. In fact, the three past generations of each family were neighbors on adjoining property, which dates back a good many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Holmes, accompanied by Prof. James Heaton and Dr. Isaac T. Headland, motored to Deland Sunday evening, where Dr. Headland addressed the audience at the opening session of the Missionary Conference at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Holmes presided at the meeting, while Mr. Heaton had charge of the congregational singing and also sang a solo. From Deland, Dr. Headland was booked for Mount Dora, where he spoke at the Forum Monday evening.

Charming Mary Pickford Picture Comes Saturday

The millions of readers of Frances Hodgson Burnett's world-loved novel, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," will be delighted to know that Mary Pickford in reproducing the story for the screen has preserved all its quaintness and charm, and has been especially faithful to the costumes and manners of the period depicted so vividly by the author.

As a vehicle for the lovely Mary, this story is ideal, running as it does the entire gamut of emotional drama, pathos and riotous comedy. It gives her the greatest opportunity that has had for the display of that brilliant genius which has so endeared her to the hearts of Mr. World and his Wife.

Through the medium of domestic exposure, that most baffling of photographic methods, Miss Pickford is able to appear as two distinct characters in the same scene, thus proving as the most perfect illusion possible.

The Victorian dress with their high waisted, buttoned and long trains, the thatched houses and the magnificent castle shown in this film tend to make it an achievement in picture-making.

And who can ever forget the domestic apple woman, the pretty grocer, and the lovely woodcock who were such great winners of "Little Lord Fauntleroy"? The human interest and heart appeal in this picture is said to keep anything ever yet translated into celluloid.

Miss Pickford will be seen in a greater variety and more novel set of costumes in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" than in any play in which she has ever before appeared. The display of women's fashion typical of the Eighties will undoubtedly prove very interesting to style mavens, especially when contrasted with the scanty attire of today.

But most appealing of all will be Mary Pickford the little boy and Mary Pickford, the grown-up woman. The presentation of this feature will be more elaborate than anything yet shown at the Auditorium. Both matinee and evening performances.

AN ILLUSTRATED COPYRIGHTED SERIES OF ARTICLES THAT EVERYONE WILL WANT TO READ

The editor of the story of the Ku Klux Klan, which is the subject of the Washington Correspondent's series, has been made an extensive investigation of the Klan in the 21 states of the South, Georgia, in Washington, and elsewhere throughout the country, and has made a valuable study of the entire organization. His story is not only a true and accurate one, but it is also a most interesting and revealing one. The Ku Klux Klan is not a new thing, but it is a very old one. It is a secret organization, and its members are known only to each other. It is a powerful organization, and it has been able to maintain its secrecy for many years. It is a dangerous organization, and it has been responsible for many acts of violence. It is a shame that it has been able to exist for so long, and it is a shame that it has been able to do so much harm. The story of the Ku Klux Klan is a story of horror and of tragedy. It is a story that should be read by every man, woman, and child. It is a story that should be read by every man, woman, and child. It is a story that should be read by every man, woman, and child.

Moll Writes Alek of Pastimes Over at Clair-Inn-Done

January, Saturday the 21st.
Hotel Clair-Inn-Done,
Seabreeze, Fla.

Dear Alek:
Well just between us girls the weatherman down here was deceived for counsel last election & too get even told out some funny weather when he first arrived.

Got inn last Sat. at 1 p. m. on the Bell Boy Special. This train got its name because it takes you right up to the hotel desk while the engineer registers you & the conductor brings ice water & makes you comfortable in your car. After telling you the temperature of the ocean & what two do for chill blains this bear train goes on to the next hotel. The further down the coast the cheaper things is. At Palm Olive Beach the Bell Boy Special lays over while the conductor serves dinner & the conductor makes you acquainted with Seabreeze.

But this bear letter is about Seabreeze. When we arrived the other guest at this hotel was standing with one foot on the other leg when he was in a crowd. But that was the opening howl had too too inghamen & things started two pick up from then on.

The real reason Seabreeze is so popular is because the beach is so wonderful & the water so gradual that you can walk out to the 3 mi. limit where there is a sand bar run by John Walker & Marshall flag. If you was only up on a beach Alek you understand. These fellows are "His Masters' Mouths." Returning Home in 3 Weeks & "You're a Better Man than I am" Gordon (the) There inn the 6 best fellows at the present time.

You know the funny thing about this hole situation is that John D. lives the near hear at a hotel stop named Ormond. Every P. M. the motors down the beach to a place called the Inn Let look for this bear sand bar.

You see him & Volstead staked off this bear allotment & their was too be no cars within 2 mi. Now they figure on the tide line so low some day that it will bring the sand bar within 2 1/4 or 2 1/2 mi. & then their will be a raid.

Well Alek the tide is gone down now so I can't run a long & measure the water at the sand bar. Its the favorite & most important pass time hear at Seabreeze.

As ever your old pal,
MOLL.

Foster Arranging
Trips to Silver
Springs Resort

Dr. R. Thor Weaver, traveling passenger agent of the Silver Springs Transportation Co., was in Daytona Monday on one of his regular trips to various points in the state arranging for transportation and accommodations for sight seeing parties who desire to include in their itinerary the famous Silver Springs near Ocala.

While here Dr. Weaver arranged with the Foster agency for a number of these tours, of which a large number of visitors to the Triple Cities expect to take advantage.

Silver Springs is said to have the largest flow of any spring in the world. Its actual capacity every 24 hours is 33,234,726 gallons, which boils out in a cavern 50 feet wide and 40 feet deep. The flow of water is so tremendous that it forms a river right at its source. The water maintains an average temperature of 72 degrees and is as clear as crystal. The company keeps a glass-bottomed boat at the springs through which tourists may view the wonderful world that constitutes the bottom of this most wonderful spring.

Only About 500 Votes Expected to Be Cast Today

Indications early this afternoon were that about 500 votes would be cast today in the election on the proposed new charter for the city of Daytona.

There are about 800 voters qualified to vote in the charter election and at noon today approximately 300 voters had been cast, of which a considerable percentage were women. Only a few negroes had voted. The vote of the white women was expected to be considerably heavier during the afternoon, as many of them were kept at home by household duties during the morning.

The polls opened at 8 o'clock in the city hall and during the early hours the voting was exceedingly light, compared with the voting for city commissioners last week, nearly twice as many being qualified to vote in the charter election as were qualified for the first election.

The polls close at sundown, which is near 6 o'clock.

LUCY, Foe OF THE FAG, SAYS SMOKING BY WOMEN GROWING

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—From the ultra-fashionable restaurants of the big cities, the cigarette habit among women is sweeping to the "smoke" side.

Lucy Faxon, famous for her "Fag" column, in an interview today.

"The situation is very different than it was 20 years ago," she declared. "What I noticed, she is not discouraged, 'but' 'carry on'."

"A year ago there was no smoking among girls and women in the small towns," she said. "Today, it is more or less common. The main reason is that girls have brought the habit in."

"Cigarette smoking has increased 100 percent among women in the country in the last year. This is a national statistic. It is a fact that in America women smoke more than in any other country, and that they are smoking more and more."

Baseball Endorsed Heartily By the Daytona Rotarians

The Rotary Club, at its regular meeting today at noon, unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed the efforts now being made to keep Daytona in the Florida baseball league and continue professional baseball here at the summer and every month pledged to do all in his power to assist in the efforts to dispose of the 500 season tickets which is essential to the financing of the team.

The question of summer baseball was presented to the club by President Morris, who declared he was vitally interested in baseball and that he knows what it means to the Tampa Club.

I have conferred with President Fitzgerald of the Kiwanis club and President Morris, and while he is not a baseball fan, he is greatly interested in keeping Daytona in the league and has promised that the Kiwanis club will do all it can to make the movement to finance the team a success. With the two clubs—Rotary and Kiwanis—working in cooperation there isn't any doubt that we can put this threat over, and I must be done."

E. H. Armstrong, newly-elected president of the local baseball association, was asked to explain the needs of the club. He said it has been estimated the club will need about $2,000 for expenses this year.

"Of this amount about $1,500 will be for salaries for the manager and the players and the balance for fuel, food and other incidentals," he said. "We figure to receive $15,000 from the sale of 500 season tickets, about $5,000 from the two divisions, which we will divide. If they are not sold, we will have a deficit that will not be covered by the club, and about $2,500 more to pay to the league, with 500 large loans and others."

"One thing you can be assured of, that is that the club will stay within the salary limit of $2,400."

In connection with the sale of season tickets, Mr. Armstrong said that T. L. Armstrong, of the business community, had just telegraphed he would send season tickets.

Others who spoke endorsing the baseball movement were Fred J. Nye, J. W. Watt, E. M. Rowe, David Shultz, Robert S. Holmes and D. F. Williams, the latter having recently been placed in charge of the sale of the tickets.

STEP ON THE STAIRS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The report of a revolver, followed by footsteps on the stairs, caused Detective Barry and his friend, Sergeant Grayson, to rush from the fifth floor of a New York apartment house. They found that beautiful Miriam Vane, whose portrait painter, has been discovered in her studio apartment on the third floor. Ladd, a young artist on the second floor, Griswold, a bachelor on the fourth, and Patricia Shaw, who on the sixth, deny having heard the shot. Griswold states that Ladd had been friendly with Miss Vane. This, Ladd denies.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Well," Gordon Ladd moistened his lips and spoke slowly, weighing each word with care. "I let myself in at the entrance with my house key and had reached the door of my apartment outside when I glanced up the stairs. I caught a glimpse of Mrs. Vane in the hall above, just outside her own door. As I had not seen her in several days, I went half-way up the stairs and greeted her with the half-formal salutation of paying her a short call. She was not too late, but she said she was too busy and must work on a portrait, or words to that effect, as I bade her 'goodnight' and returned back to my own apartment. I closed the door.

"I opened almost the next moment, and I have stated, that the commotion above, and as no one else seemed likely to reply to that banging on the entrance door, I went down and addressed the policeman. We heard voices and saw lights coming from Mrs. Vane's apartment and went up to see, but I had no suspicion of the murder. That is why I floored me so when I saw the body."

"The only explanation that the young man gave me was that the young man had seen the swift, fleeting look of horror which Barry had earlier, when he had collapsed at the discovery of the murder."

"Mr. Ladd," he recommended. "How was Mrs. Vane dressed when you saw her in the landing above? The same as when her body was found?"

"Of course," The artist stated.

"Did you see anyone else in the hallway or on the stairs, either above or below?"

"No one," The reply was decisive.

"The reply was decisive," the detective said, "and Barry seized upon it."

"Mr. Ladd, what in your opinion was the reason for Mrs. Vane's presence out there in the public hall? Did she offer any explanation?"

"I don't know," Ladd replied hotly. "It is a ridiculously trivial notion to quibble over! There might have been a hundred unimportant reasons."

"There might have been a hundred reasons," Mr. Ladd. "Again there came that maddening repetition of his name which had so often helped in breaking a stubborn witness under the third degree. "But in this case there was only one, and you know it! Mrs. Vane was either receiving or ejecting a guest, and if you saw no one else, you yourself must have been the guest! We have purposely interrogated the other tenants of the house before approaching you and we have learned more than you think! The saying that walls have ears is true also of ceilings."

"He paused significantly while Sergeant Craig stared at him in genuine surprise, but the shot found its mark. Ladd, to his feet, with his hands, some face darkened and distorted in a paroxysm of rage, Ladd cried:

"So that's what you two have been trying to get at, is it? That miserable wretch Griswold has noted my acquaintance with Mrs. Vane and deliberately tried to blacken her character in your eyes! I admit that I was in love with her; all our world in Paris as well as here will tell you of my long attempt to make her my wife, but they will also tell you that she has laughed at my love for her, as she has at that of all others. I would have said nothing, but now that he has spoken, ask him what claim he has upon her, gentlemen, for I lied to you! I did see someone upon the stairs! It was he whom I saw leaving her apartment a moment before I entered my own and the shot was fired which must have ended her life!"

Sergeant Barry felt that the moment was too tense and the possible issue too important to give his colleague an opportunity to interrupt. Without a glance at Craig he demanded of the almost distraught young artist before him:

"That being the case, Mr. Ladd, tell us the truth of what happened last night! Why did you go halfway up the flight of stairs leading to Mrs. Vane's apartment if you saw her in the hall talking to a neighbor whom you apparently dislike?"

"Mrs. Vane seemed to be waiting for a departing guest in her usual gay manner, and he was glowering at her in a resentful fashion. The moment he had disappeared up the stairs and before Mrs. Vane had had an opportunity to turn and re-enter her own apartment I called to her, and went up to her. His tone had been more and more uncertain and now he hurried, and begged for five minutes of her time but she snubbed me laughingly and I returned here."

"There was silence for a moment while Sergeant Craig made no effort to enter the examination, and Barry eyed the young man with some very grave. At length the more experienced official spoke:

"Mr. Ladd, you have not told us all the truth! What happened between those two on the stairs which made you rush up to Mrs. Vane only to be repulsed. Were you repulsed? Were you not with her, in her studio, when the deadly shot was fired?"

At the unexpected accusation the young man shrank back, then sprang from his chair.

"This is what you in your police plans call a 'frame-up' isn't it? You've got to hang the murder on someone, I suppose, and so I am to be the goat?"

"By no means," Barry also had risen. "You must realize the strong circumstantial case against you, but I do not think you are guilty."

"Do you know why? Because ever since this interrogation was started, in spite of the damaging admissions you made against yourself, you have evaded and equivocated and evaded, and I think I know the reason."

Barry's tone softened and deepened. "I believe you did care for Mrs. Vane, honorably and sincerely, and it is for that very fact that I ask you to tell us the truth now."

For an instant the young man hesitated, and then sinking once more in to his chair he buried his face in his hands.

At last Gordon Ladd raised his head, and upon his white, set face there was written implacable resolve.

"You win, Sergeant Barry! I would die myself before I would willingly rake up anything against the memory of the woman I loved, even though she had played mercilessly with me, only to turn me down irrevocably in the end, but there's some mystery about this whole thing that I don't understand, and it may in a way have some bearing upon the manner of her death. No breath of scandal has ever touched her. Nevertheless, she must have had some source of income, for her studio was luxurious—almost palatial compared to this—and her war work and fits of idleness which she indulged in later were alike unremunerative."

His voice broke and Sergeant Barry waited a moment before asking:

"Why did Mrs. Vane return to America last autumn?"

Gordon Ladd shrugged.

"A whim of hers, we all thought; we would not have been surprised had she announced her departure for China. There was nothing—nothing definite between us two, you know. I was simply one of many who were permitted to adore her at a distance. The rest forgot, but I didn't; I followed her to New York, and when I found that success had crowned her bizarre talents and yet she was living in this—this hovel, I was amazed beyond words! In the artistic colony in Paris false conventions are unknown, and when I discovered that this studio here was vacant I took it just so that I might be near her, even though she still laughed at my wooing. Then, then I began to notice this man Griswold."

His voice had hardened perceptibly on the last words and Barry remarked:

"If the report we get on him tallies with his own account of himself, he is a highly respectable member of society."

"Oh, I know all about him! All anybody knows, I mean, I've looked him up," Ladd cried defiantly.

"What I want to know is this: why is he living hidden away in a cheap, makeshift studio building, like this, a man with all his money? Why was she, a brilliant artistic success, content even for a day in such surroundings after the luxury which had always been hers? Why did he—reputedly a confirmed woman-hater—call up on her, and why did she even permit or tolerate his acquaintance, she who was accustomed abroad to the society of notable men?"

"Why did you not ask her?"

"I did, but she always put me off, told me she was an American type that she had almost forgotten and that he amused her. A week ago I couldn't stand it any longer; I proposed to her for the last time, and when she laughed at me as usual I must have lost my head and gone a bit too far, for she told me seriously at last that she would never be my wife."

Gordon Ladd paused, his clenched hands tightening until the knuckles showed white.

"I kept away from her after that until tonight, when I came in as I told you and saw her bidding him 'goodnight' on the landing above. There's no love lost between them. I could swear to that! She was jeering at him, and if ever hatred looked out of a man's eyes, it looked out of his, and yet somehow the sight drove me wild!"

LONDON, Jan. 24.—A mania for collecting bicycle lamps resulted in the appearance before the Kingston magistrates of Edward Stradling, 15. The policeman said Edward had five lamps at home and had decorated his bicycle with lamps. He was placed on probation.

DEMOCRATS WILL LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TOMORROW NIGHT

MANY NOTABLES WILL MEET AT DAYTON TO DISCUSS CHANCES IN FALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Democratic leaders intend to start this year's congressional campaign, it was disclosed today, with a dinner at Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow night, at which James Middleton Cox, unsuccessful democratic presidential candidate in 1920, and Senator Phil Harrison, of Mississippi, will be among the central figures.

The dinner, while held ostensibly to launch the candidacy of Senator Pomerehne, of Ohio, for re-election, is expected to result in democratic leaders defining some of those national issues on which they are planning to wrest from republicans seats in both the senate and house at the fall elections.

It is understood that Democratic National Chairman Cordell Hull, and his predecessor, George White, and Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to former President Wilson, may be among the speakers.

The chief senatorial contests this year are believed to have already narrowed down to Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; McCumber of North Dakota; New of Indiana; Kellogg of Minnesota; Calder of New York; France of Maryland, and Sutherland of West Virginia, all of whom republican leaders fear may be defeated, while Ashurst of Arizona; Gerry of Rhode Island; Hitchcock of Nebraska; Kendrick of Wyoming, and Pomerene of Ohio, are regarded by democratic leaders as those most likely to be recorded as "not present" in the next senate.

While democratic leaders are content that they will be able to reduce the present overwhelming republican majority of the house, they frankly admit that they don't expect to make any serious dent in the republican control of the senate. The defeat of certain republican senators for re-election is not unlikely to be offset, they concede, by the failure of certain state to return democratic senators who are candidates for re-election.

In any event, it is admitted on all sides that there is little likelihood that the democratic party can regain numerical control of the senate this year.

YANKEES WILL "BOIL OUT" AT HOT SPRINGS, REPORTING FEB. 17TH

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Members of the New York Yankees' pitching staff and a few others needing the "boiling out" process today were ordered to report at Hot Springs, February 17. The entire club will assemble at New Orleans March 1.

Babe Ruth is listed among those to report at Hot Springs. Others who will be there are Mays, Shawkey, Holt, Bush and Jones, Catcher Dwyer and infielders Frank Baker and Everett Scott.

The big hambone may not take the hint to report at Hot Springs at the early date, as it is understood he can extend his vaudeville engagement to some time in April. He feels, it is said, that he can get in condition to play on May 20, the date of his reinstatement, by reporting in the middle of April.

The start of the season will find Manager Huggins with a wealth of infield material on his hands and a dearth of outfielders. His April outfield at this writing consists only of Elmer Miller, Bobby Roth, Wilson Fawcett and a flock of untried youngsters.

The only trouble with Thrift Week is we need 51 more of them.

POSTPONEMENT OF BURIAL OF POPE TOMORROW

OPPORTUNITY GIVEN MANY TO VIEW REMAINS LAYING IN STATE TODAY.

ROME, Jan. 24.—The decision to defer the entombment of Pope Benedict XV, until tomorrow, gave thousands of devout Catholics an opportunity to pay their devotions while the body rested in state in the basilica of St. Peter's today. It was a scene of awe, splendor and grief as the undying line of persons passed before the scarlet catalogue with its passive occupants.

At dawn this morning, the body was surveyed by experts who made several injections of preserving fluid to arrest advancing decomposition. The pontiff had made special request in his will that the body be not embalmed, and this made special precautions necessary in view of the decision to postpone the funeral.

A congregation of cardinals had been held early in the day and they expressed the wish that measures be taken to preserve the body for the view of the thousands who have been unable to enter St. Peter's on Monday.

Announcement was made early in the morning that the body would be exhibited in state all day long and possibly tomorrow with burial tomorrow morning. It is probable that the body will be placed in a crypt in St. Peter's grotto between the tombs of Queen Christine of Sweden and Pope Pius XI.

Thousands of visitors have poured into Rome overnight and shortly after dawn, a long line began forming outside of St. Peter's marshalled by police and soldiers. There were four soldiers on guard and most of the policemen in Rome were stationed in the Piazza of St. Peter's.

The body of the pontiff was slightly changed from yesterday. The countenance was a grayish brown, but showed little evidence of the suffering that had been borne during the last 24 hours of life.

Fresh candles had been placed about the catafalque. They burned with a flickering light that cast shadows upon the armor and the swords of the noble guards that stood beside the funeral bed.

FLEA NOT NATURALLY BLOOD THIRSTY

PARIS, Jan. 24.—A non-biting flea has been produced in a scientific laboratory here.

A scientist confined a pair of fleas in a glass case and fed them on milk. The fourth generation of this flea family, nourished exclusively on sweetened milk, were finally introduced to the scientist's naked arm, but they declined to use it as pasturage and treated it merely as a playground.
